From: The Adjutant General of Kentucky:

To: Governor of Kentucky

Subject: Report on National Guard for fiscal years 1920-21.

1. There is submitted herewith a brief report on the activities of this office and the National Guard for the two year period beginning July 1, 1919, and ended June 30, 1921.

State Guard.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Handwritten note in margin "Active Militia")

Subject to the draft of the National Guard of this State into the service of the United States on August 5, 1917, for the World War, when the State was without a military force, four infantry companies of State Guard were organized, under authority of law, for any emergencies that might arise in the State requiring the use of military forces to enforce law and order. These units were in existence on July 1, 1919, and were stationed as follows:

Co. A, Louisville; Co. B. Paducah; Co. C, Lexington; Co. D, Covington; and Detachment of Infantry, Leitchfield, On account of the reorganization of the National Guard these units have been mustered out of the State service on the following dates: Co. B., September 5, 1919; Co. A, October 24, 1919; Co. C, April 29, 1920.; Co. D. March 29, 1921, and Detachment of Infantry at Leitchfield, March 29, 1921.

These units rendered good service at a time when the State was without other military protection than the Federal Government. One unit Co. D. Covington, was reorganized as the 38th Tank Company, Kentucky National Guard.

Reorganization of NATIONAL GUARD.

The Congress of the United States having made provision in the National Defense Act of June 3, 1916, as amended by the act of June 4, 1920 for the organization and maintenance of a National Guard by the several states, the work of reorganization in accordance with allotments of units and organizations and tables of organization prescribed by the War Department was actively begun by this office in February, 1920, The first unit to be organized was Troop B, Cavalry (later designated Troop B, 53rd Machine Gun Squadron, Cavalry) at London by Captain James K. Dillion: this unit was federally recognized under date of May 22, 1920, The work of reorganization has been vigorously prosecuted by this office with the result that thirty six units have been organized in twenty months; one unit Troop D, Cavalry, Manchester, was mustered out of the service in April 1921, on account of the failure of Clay county to provide an armory and stables, There are now twenty units authorized by the War Department, remaining to be organized prior to June 30th, 1922.

REGULAR ARMY PERSONNEL

There has been detailed by the War Department for duty with the National Guard two officers and seven non-commissioned officers of the Regular Army as instructors and sergeant instructors; these officers, assisted by the sergeants, conduct correspondence schools, prepare training schedules, and make certain inspections.

CAMPS OF- FIELD TRIANING.

Twenty-seven units of the National Guard engaged in a fifteen day camp of field training at Camp Knox, Kentucky, August 21, to September 4, 1921. The training schedules ere of an intensive character, were interesting to the officers and enlisted men, were well carried out, and it was the consensus of opinion of those in charge that much progress was made. A four day school for certain selected officers and enlisted men was conducted at Camp Sherman, Ohio, and Fort Benjamin Harrison, Indiana, in June, 1921, The state was represented at the National Matches, Camp Perry, Ohio, by a rifle team from the National Guard during the late summer of both years 1920 and 1921; lack of proper preliminary training precluded a high standing in any of the events.

ACTIVE SERVICE.

From February 6th, to 10th, Co. D. State Guard, stationed at Covington, was on active service at Lexington, Ky., during the trial of Will Lockett, charged with murder. During the trial a mob attempted to force entrance to the Fayette County Court House, was fired on by the troops and number of persons were killed and wounded; one soldier was wounded by fire from the mob. It became necessary to send United States troops to Lexington to quell the mob spirit. The prisoner was safely conducted to Eddyville Penitentiary, after conviction, and was later executed by the proper civil authorities.

From February 12 to 29 and from March 1 to 11, 1920, Detachment State Guard, stationed at Leitchfield, Ky., served at Eddyville Penitentiary to guard against violence in the case of Will Lockett who was awaiting execution of the death sentence.

From April 1, to June 4, 1920, Detachment, State Guard, stationed at Leitchfield, Ky., was on active service at Mayfield, Ky., in connection with lawlessness in the tobacco district adjacent to that town.

From May 5, to 8, 1920, Co. D. State Guard, stationed at Covington, Ky., was on active service at Brooksville, Ky., in connection with the trial of Thomas Marksberry charged with murder.

From July 21 to 26 1920, Detachment State Guard, stationed at Leitchfield, Detachment Troop B, Cavalry N. G. and Detachment Co. B. Infantry, Morehead, were on active service at Springfield, Ky., in connection with trial of Robert Logan, charged with murder.

From July 26 to September 30, 1920, Detachments from State Guard, Leitchfield, Co. D, State Guard, Covington, Co. B, Infantry, N. G., Morehead, and Troop B, Cavalry, N. G. London, were on active service along the Kentucky West Virginia border in connection with a coal strike in the Tug River District.

From December 27th, to 30 1920, Detachments from Troop A, Cavalry, Louisville and Troop B, Cavalry, London, were on active service at Madisonville, Ky., in connection with the trial of Lee Ellison, charged with murder.

From May 14, to June 4, 1921, Co. B. Infantry, Morehead, Troop B, Cavalry, London, and Troop C, Cavalry, Louisa, with attached officers were on active service along the Kentucky – West Virginia Border in connection with a coal strike in the Tug River District.

From June 7 to 11, 1921, Troop B, 53rd Machine Gun Squadron, Cavalry of London, and a detachment of Co. A, 149th Infantry of Pineville, were on active service at Barbourville, Ky., in connection with lawless conditions existing in Knox County and adjoining territory.

During all these periods of active service the officers and enlisted men conducted themselves as soldiers and rendered loyal service to the state with considerable sacrifice to themselves. They were called away from their several civilian pursuits without warning and their response to the calls was prompt and cheerful. Private Manley Vaughan, Troop C, 53rd Machine Gun Squadron, Cavalry, Louisa, Kentucky, was killed near Borderland W. Va., in June 1921, while in pursuit of persons who had been firing during the night. (Editor's Note: Adjacent to Pike, County, Kentucky).

STATE ARSENAL

All United States property intended for the equipment of the National Guard, not in the hands of the troops, and a small amount of State property, is stored in the State Arsenal and in one of the large rooms in the basement of the Capitol building. The United States property was issued to the United States property & disbursing officer for the State of Kentucky by the War Department, it is charged to and is accounted for by that official who is an agent of the federal government. The property in Frankfort is in the immediate charge of Captain Jacob Smith, Q.M.C. Kentucky National Guard.

AMRORIES.

The State law requires the county wherein a unit of the National Guard is stationed to furnish a suitable building or rooms for the necessary armory for assemblies and drill of the unit and for the safe storage of Federal property.

Much dissatisfaction has arisen from this provision for the reason that the counties as a rule do not furnish satisfactory accommodations, and this general failure has a tendency to discourage the maintenance of a live successful military unit, and has been the frequent cause of disbandment of units that have cost the government and the State large sums of money to organize, equip and maintain. Inasmuch as the National Guard is organized for both Federal and State purposes, and affords protection to all counties alike, it is believed that the counties should be relieved of the burden and that there should be an appropriation by the State available for the payment of rental of suitable buildings, rooms and stables where there are mounted troops. The federal Government pays the troops for armory drills and for annual periods of field training; furnishes all arms, clothing and equipment, but the armory is the one thing that the State is required to furnish in addition to the men, practically everything else is provided by the United States.
